Writing Prompts

1. Famous Spooky Treat: Write about a famous Halloween dish from around the world. How is it prepared, and how is it served?
2. Creepy Creation, Inventor: Write about a new Halloween treat or decoration. What is it called? What are its ingredients or parts?
3. Haunted Feast: Imagine a banquet in a haunted mansion. What food is served, and what happens when you eat it?
4. Monster Food Critic: You are a food critic writing a review for a new Halloween treat. How does it look, taste, and smell?
5. The Great Halloween Bake-Off: Write about a contest judged by ghosts. What ingredients do you use, and what is the winning treat?
6. The Pumpkin's Journey: Write about the journey of a pumpkin from the field to the table. What happens along the way?
7. Witch's Café Menu: Create a menu for a magical, spooky, or strange Halloween treat shop. Name your dishes and describe them.
8. Time-Traveling Trick-or-Treat: Write about a time machine that takes you to different Halloween traditions. What do you see, hear, and taste?
9. Alien Halloween: Imagine a Halloween party on a different planet. What are the strange treats and decorations?
10. Culinary Curses: Create a recipe for a Halloween treat that comes to life. What happens when you bake it?

Blackwood Mansion's Seeds of Shadows

Strange things grow in the Mansion garden each October. Every time you create, help, or imagine something brave, a Seed of Shadow begins to glow. Color one seed each time you make the Mansion's garden come alive. How bright can you make it before Halloween night?

How to use this resource:

1. Prompts can be used to create a class theme day or party.
2. One prompt can be selected daily, leading up to Halloween.
3. Use prompts to facilitate class discussions, encouraging students to share their thoughts and perspectives on a given topic.
4. Use idea prompts to kick off a lesson or unit, sparking students' interest and setting the stage for further exploration.
5. Prompts could be used to generate ideas for student projects or research assignments, guiding them to explore topics in more detail and apply their knowledge.
6. Assign prompts as homework to extend learning beyond the classroom, giving students opportunities to work independently.
7. Use prompts as themes for bulletin boards or classroom displays, showcasing student work and celebrating their creativity.
8. Use two prompts to organize a "would you rather" game or to organize a classroom debate to develop argumentative and public speaking skills.
9. Create learning stations with different prompts, allowing students to rotate through and explore various aspects of the subject.
10. Incorporate prompts into peer review sessions, where students give feedback on each other's work based on specific criteria.

1. Famous Spooky Treat: Write a report about a famous Halloween dish from another country. Describe its ingredients, how it's prepared, and the tradition behind it.
2. Creepy Creation: Invent a brand-new Halloween food product. What's it called? What are its ingredients? Why would trick-or-treaters love (or fear) it?
3. Haunted Feast: Imagine you've been invited to a Halloween banquet in a haunted mansion. What eerie dishes are served, and what happens when you take a bite?
4. Monster Food Critic: You're a vampire, witch, or zombie writing a review for a new spooky restaurant. Describe the food, how it looks, and how it tastes (to monsters).
5. The Great Halloween Bake-Off: You've entered a baking contest judged by ghosts! Describe your dessert, the secret ingredient you use, and what happens when it's tasted.
6. The Pumpkin's Journey: Write a story from the perspective of a pumpkin — from growing in the patch to becoming a jack-o'-lantern or a delicious pie.
7. Witch's Café Menu: Create a menu for a Halloween café or potion shop. Name your dishes and describe what makes them magical, spooky, or strange.
8. Time-Traveling Trick-or-Treater: You can travel through time to celebrate Halloween in three different eras. What kinds of treats or traditions do you discover?
9. Alien Halloween: Imagine aliens celebrating Halloween for the first time. What strange foods or candies do they invent on their planet?
10. Culinary Curses: Create a story about a haunted recipe book that comes to life. What happens when someone dares to bake from its pages?

1. The Haunted Door: You find a mysterious door that only appears on Halloween night. Where does it lead?
2. Costume Switch: You and your best friend accidentally swap costumes with real monsters. What happens next?
3. The Disappearing Town: On October 31st, your town vanishes from every map. Describe what you discover when you go looking for it.
4. Message from the Moon: On Halloween night, the moon begins to whisper messages to you. What does it say?
5. Pumpkin Patrol: The pumpkins in your neighborhood start walking around at midnight. Where are they going?
6. The Ghost's Secret: You meet a friendly ghost who needs your help. What unfinished business does it have?
7. The 100-Year Party: You receive an invitation to a Halloween party that's been going on for a century. Who's there?
8. The Witch's Apprentice: You accidentally become a witch's apprentice for the night. What spells do you learn—and what goes wrong?
9. The Scarecrow's Wish: A lonely scarecrow in the field wishes for just one Halloween where it's not alone. Tell its story.
10. The Midnight Library: On Halloween, your local library comes alive. The books whisper, the portraits move, and you find one book with your name on it...
